May 30th - June 1st, 2025

International Convention Centre, Sydney, NSW, Australia

The Australasian Division of the International Academy of Pathology is dedicated to fostering education, research and to advance knowledge in pathology.

Our Annual Scientific Meeting is one of the largest regular gatherings of anatomical pathologists within the region with 450+ registrants every year. The event is dynamic and inspiring, including a fantastic mix of formal lectures, symposia, oral workshops and poster presentations plus a variety of exhibits – all covering a wide spectrum of topics.

The conference aims to provide attendees with updates, on recent research results and knowledge to enhance their day-to-day practice of pathology and enable them to tackle challenges ahead.

Keynote Speakers

GASTROINTESTINAL (UPPER) Professor Gregory Y. Lauwers

Senior Member in Anatomic Pathology at Moffitt Cancer Centre, and Director of Gastrointestinal Pathology, Professor of Oncologic Sciences, Pathology and Cell Biology at the University of South Florida, USA

Dr. Gregory Lauwers is a Senior Member in Anatomic Pathology at Moffitt Cancer Center and Professor in the Departments of Oncologic Sciences and Pathology and Cell Biology at the University of South Florida.

Dr. Lauwers received his MD from the University of Paris, France. He completed a Surgical Pathology Residency at Lenox Hill Hospital, New York, NY and a Fellowship in Oncologic Pathology at Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center, where he also served as Chief Fellow. Following his Fellowship, Dr. Lauwers served successively in the Department of Pathology at the University of Florida; in the Department of Pathology at Massachusetts General Hospital (Harvard Medical School) and in the Department of Pathology at the University of California San Francisco.

Dr. Lauwers has published over 400 peer-reviewed articles, editorials, reviews, and book chapters, and is coauthor of several textbooks, including the 5th and 6th editions of Morson and Dawson's Gastrointestinal Pathology; "Advances in Surgical Pathology: Gastric Cancer" and recently "Gastrointestinal Pathology: Correlative Endoscopic and Histologic Assessment."

Dr. Lauwers serves on the editorial boards of several journals. He also contributed to the WHO Classification of Tumours of the Digestive System, 4th and 5th edition (2010 and 2019) and currently serves on the Expert Members Committee for the forthcoming 6th edition.

Dr. Lauwers' areas of clinical focus include luminal malignancies of the gut (particularly esophageal and gastric adenocarcinoma).

CYTOPATHOLOGY & PATHOLOGY EDUCATION A/Professor Min En Nga

Associate Professor, Department of Pathology, Yong Loo Lin School of Medicine, National University of Singapore, and Senior Consultant, Department of Pathology, National University Hospital, Singapore

A/Prof Nga obtained Histopathology Fellowships from both the Royal College of Pathologists of Australasia and the United Kingdom. Her area of subspecialty interest is Cytopathology. She is also a Fellow of the International Academy of Cytology, and completed her Cytology Fellowship at QEII Hospital in Western Australia, under the generous mentorship of Drs Felicity Frost and Gregory Sterrett.

A/Prof Nga is a council member of the Singapore Society of Cytology, and co-editor of their biannual newsletter, CytoPage. She is also a frequent speaker in local and international pathology conferences, and has been an invited keynote speaker conferences in Australia and India. Her particular areas of interest are in thyroid, lymph node and pancreatic cytology. She has authored a cytopathology book entitled Practical Diagnostic Approaches In Non-Gynaecologic Cytology, which is published by Springer (2022). Also amongst her writing credits are co-authorship of a chapter in the WHO Classification of Tumours: Paediatric Tumours (Papillary thyroid carcinoma). In 2024, A/Prof Nga delivered a Short Course in the USCAP Annual Scientific Meeting in Baltimore, on the topic of lymph node cytology.

A/Prof Nga is a keen driver of innovation in education. She has created several online teaching resources including Pathweb, a comprehensive online learning resource with several thousand registrants from over 130 countries. She is also the creator of the Pathweb Teacher YouTube channel which has more than 20000 subscribers. In addition, her Cytopathology website, Cytoweb, is featured in the International Academy of Cytology website as an educational resource. In 2019, she was the recipient of the National University of Singapore Outstanding Educator Award.

Outside the clinical realm, A/Prof Nga has also been an elected fellow of the NUS Teaching Academy, in which she has helmed the Teachers Who Inspire team, producing videos of inspiring teachers from various faculties. Since 2023, she has also been a member of the University Teaching Excellence Committee (UTEC), which determines the recipients of the highest teaching honours in NUS.

In addition to her work in undergraduate teaching, A/Prof Nga is also keenly interested in the mentoring and training pathology residents. She has served as Core Faculty in the NUHS Pathology Residency programme since its inception.

DIGITAL & SALIVARY GLAND PATHOLOGY Professor Joaquín J. García

Professor of Laboratory Medicine and Pathology, Chair of Anatomic Pathology, Mayo Clinic Rochester, Rochester, Minnesota, USA

Dr. Joaquín J. García pursued undergraduate studies in Molecular & Cell Biology at the University of California Berkeley and attended medical school at Stanford University School of Medicine. Dr. García trained in Anatomic Pathology at University of California San Francisco, Oncologic and Molecular Pathology at Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center, and Head & Neck Pathology at University of Pittsburgh Medical Center. Dr. García is a Professor of Laboratory Medicine & Pathology and has a joint appointment in the Department of Clinical Anatomy at Mayo Clinic Alix School of Medicine. Dr. García has over 10 years of experience as Medical Director of the Histology Laboratory, Histology Technician Program, and School of Medicine Histology Course. Dr. García possesses expertise in head and neck, frozen section, and molecular pathology; he has published over 100 peer reviewed manuscripts and authored several book chapters and books. Dr. García is currently the Chair of Anatomic Pathology and the Digital Pathology Program at Mayo Clinic Rochester.

Speakers

VINCENT MCGOVERN MEMORIAL LECTURER - SATURDAY

Dr Ian Brown

Envoi Specialist Pathologists, Brisbane, QLD, Australia

Ian S. Brown MBBS FRCPA received his medical degree from the University of Queensland and pursued specialty training in anatomical pathology at the Princess Alexandra Hospital in Brisbane, obtaining his fellowship from the Royal College of Pathologists of Australasia in 1999.

Dr Brown specialised in gastrointestinal pathology and is the managing director of Envoi Pathology, a specialist gastrointestinal pathology practice based in Brisbane. He has also been a visiting pathologist at Royal Brisbane and Women's Hospital since 2004.

Dr Brown has published more than 200 peer-reviewed articles and meeting abstracts. He has written 14 book chapters on gastrointestinal tract pathology, including chapters for Morson and Dawson's Gastrointestinal Pathology and Odze and Goldblum: Surgical Pathology of the GI Tract, Liver, Biliary Tract, and Pancreas. He authored two chapters for the 5th edition WHO Classification of Digestive System Tumours and co-edited, with Professor Priyanthi Kumarasinghe, the textbook 'Endoscopic Biopsy Interpretation'. Dr Brown serves on the editorial board of Archives of Pathology and Laboratory Medicine and Histopathology and is an Associate Editor for Pathology. He was a co-founder of the Australasian Gastrointestinal Pathology Society.

His research interests focus on inflammatory conditions of the luminal gastrointestinal tract and early neoplasia of the large intestine. He has presented many invited lectures at national and international levels on these topics.

SUNDAY MASTER CLASS - LUNG PATHOLOGY

Professor Wendy Cooper

Tissue Pathology and Diagnostic Oncology, Royal Prince Alfred Hospital, Sydney, Australia

Professor Wendy Cooper is a senior staff specialist pathologist in Tissue Pathology and Diagnostic Oncology at Royal Prince Alfred Hospital in Sydney and Anatomical Pathology Clinical Stream Lead for NSW Health Pathology. She has extensive experience in diagnostic and molecular pathology with special interest in thoracic pathology. She is a member of the Pathology Committee of the International Association for the Study of Lung Cancer, a standing editor of the 6th edition of the WHO classification of Tumours, a member of the Expert Panel for the international CAP/IASLC/AMP Lung Cancer Molecular Testing Guidelines and a member of the American Thoracic Society/European Respiratory Society task force developing the current Update of the International Multidisciplinary Classification of the Interstitial Pneumonias.
